

ADULT GUIDE

Parent & Teacher Basics Guide

A practical overview for planning Islamic studies at home, homeschool, weekend school, or maktab. Keep lessons short, warm, accurate, and connected to real life.

Core basics to cover

Quran

Respectful listening, short surah review, vocabulary recognition, and teacher-guided recitation.

Today's activity idea:

Wudu

Purification before salah, careful washing, not wasting water, and asking teachers for detailed rulings.

Today's activity idea:

Salah

Names of the five prayers, local prayer times, focus, cleanliness, and gradual habit building.

Today's activity idea:

Five Pillars

Shahadah, Salah, Zakah, Sawm, and Hajj taught as age-appropriate foundations.

Today's activity idea:

Ramadan

Mercy, fasting for those accountable and able, Quran, dua, sadaqah, patience, and family worship.

Today's activity idea:

Duas & Dhikr

Short authentic duas connected to real moments: studying, parents, forgiveness, gratitude, and guidance.

Today's activity idea:

Islamic Manners

Truthfulness, mercy, respect for parents, sharing, cleanliness, keeping promises, and good speech.

Today's activity idea:

Prophets

Quran-based lessons from prophets without drawings or speculative details.

Today's activity idea:

Arabic

Letter recognition, handwriting, vocabulary, and pronunciation with teacher support.

Today's activity idea:

Weekly structure

- Start with intention and a warm welcome.
- Teach one small concept, not ten at once.
- Use one printable activity or coloring/reflection page.
- Play a matching Salam Games activity for review.
- End with one real-life action: kindness, dua, gratitude, or practice.

Accuracy guardrail: For tajweed, fiqh details, advanced aqeedah, hadith grading, or personal religious questions, refer to qualified local scholars and teachers.